

The Communication Process

Identify how the following steps of the communication process are carried out by sending / receiving an e-mail message.

- encodes information
- stores information
- decodes information
- retrieves information
- sends information
- receives information